'Working in Partnership for a Safer City'

PARTNERSHIP WORKING

CITY
WIDE

'A' Division continues to lead the way for partnership working across the country. Relationships with our partners have never been stronger. Through our funded officers, such as the Safer Community Units and Youth Action Teams, we have made a real difference in a number of areas across the city. We are now in a position to build on this success through the introduction of the Capital Partnership Model.

This model is the first of its kind in Scotland. In simple terms we now work more closely with our partners, in a focussed manner, on a daily basis to identify problems that affect our communities. By working together we can share information and ideas and make the best use of the wide range of resources available to us. The model was piloted with great success in the south of the City and I am confident that it will help us to make a real difference in improving the quality of life across 'A' Division.

BE SURE AT YOUR DOOR

FOR HOMES

You may have read in the newspapers and heard the media reports about the few recent instances in Edinburgh where bogus callers have pretended to be police officers carrying out security surveys on houses. We do not routinely cold call on houses offering a security survey and advice. These are arranged by appointment when a householder phones the police asking for security advice.

Bogus callers come in many guises; meter readers, workmen offering to do building or gardening work, charity collectors or even people asking for help. Whatever their guise if you follow some simple steps you can prevent yourself from becoming a victim:

- If you do not know or expect a caller, do not let them into your home.
- Check the identity of anyone who calls at your door unexpectedly before you open the door. Use the phonebook to check with the company. A genuine caller won't mind waiting.
- Use your door chain, spy hole or window to see whose at your door without having to open it.
- Fit and use a light outside your front door so you can see any callers.
- Arrange building, gardening work etc through firms with the proper trade accreditation or who are recommended by relatives/friends.
- If you see anyone suspicious in the area contact the police.

IF IN DOUBT KEEP THEM OUT

Following what seems to have been months and months of consultation and setting up regarding the speed limit on Riccarton Mains Road I drove down it the other day to find all the speed limits have been updated and are now set to 40mph. Can I ask that everyone now familiarises themselves with the road and the speed limit. Hopefully this new limit will reduce accidents on the road and surrounding streets.
